Ölgerðin's website uses cookies to ensure that users have the best experience possible from the website.

This policy is intended to inform users about how the company uses cookies and how you can control the use of cookies.

Cookies that are used on this website are divided into categories and you can read about each category below. With the exception of essential cookies, the use of cookies is based on your consent.

In the web cookie banner, you can accept or reject certain or all categories. If a category that has previously been allowed is rejected, all cookies in that category are deleted from your browser.

At the bottom left corner of Ölgerðin's website is a gear icon that you can use to change your settings for the cookies used on the site later.
